Bricker Amendment

- Need Some Reform

on Treaty Procedure

Unless you have been following the controversy over the so-called Bricker amendment from the beginning the uproar this week as the question approaches a vote may make you feel as bewildered as into the middle of a whodunit movie.

Schator Bricker, Ohio Republican, has the support of the American Bar association, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and a large number of fellow senators for a proposed constitutional amendment which would limit the treatymaking power of the President and the Senate. As you know, the President negotiates treaties with foreign nations through his ap-pointee the Secretary of State, but all treaty proposals must be ratified by the Senate.

The actual text of the amendment Bricker is offering has changed from time to time, but suffice it to say that President Eisenhower and the administration stalwarts are particularly opposed to this paragraph:

"A treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only through legislation which would be valid in the absence of treaty."

What does it mean? Well, read it over again. What it is saying is simply this: That Congress is limited in its authority to pass ordinary laws by the provisions of the Constitution, and a foreign treaty can't be made to apply inside the United States in violation of the Constitution.

The background of this controversy can be quickly understood. Our country now is a member of the United Nations. We have made many foreign treaties --- and there is a growing fear that this mass of treaty "law" coupled with the protocols which are issued by the League of Nations will finally become an instrument of law which supersedes here in the United States our own Constitution.

In principle I am opposed to any attempt to ham-string the President and the Senate in the discharge of their duty in foreign affairs. Someone must do the job. If the people refuse to trust their top political leaders then the United States is no belter off than France, where the people give their gov-ernment no real authority at all has fallen out of the ranks of the major powers.

Nevertheless there is a genuine need for reform of our American treaty procedure. It is charged that many treaties have been rushed through the Senate without a record vote. And sometimes only a handful of senators were present,

Before writing this piece I looked up our freaty procedure as stated in the Constitution, and 1 think I hoods. have found the seat of the trouble —the word that I have put in capital letters. Article II, Section 2, Paragraph 2, says:

"He (the President) shall have power by and with the advice and consent of the Senate to make treaties, provided twothird s of the senators PRES-ENT concur. There is the flaw - the word "present." If you are going to exercise power you have to assume responsibility to the people, and we should have two-thirds of the Senate MEMBERSHIP behind every foreign treaty -- not just two thirds of the handful that happen to be in the chamber at the time. And no mere voice voting. Every man should be on record on every treaty vote.

A constitutional amendment to require treaty ratification by two efforts to rewrite in the Senate Commission, headed by Clarence B. the three states area. The youths thirds of the full Senate membership is in order — and I think that's powers. about what Ericker's proposal will eventually boil down to.

Band Concert to Be Given February 4

The annual Winter Concert by the Hope High School Band will take place Thusday night, February 4 at 7:45 in the high school auditor ium. This announcement came today from G. T. Cannon, director o the local high school and junior high bands.

This traditional concert by the band is considered to be perhaps the outstanding musical event of the winter season in Hope. Large and enthusiastic audiences have attested to that fact in the past and this year promises to be no excep-

HELMETED AGAINST FEAR-Jimmy Brown, son of a Navy corpsman stationed at the Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md., models the "space helmet" in which he pioneered the first "blast off" from surgery for young spacemen. Lt. J. G. Morrow explains use of the helmet, which helps eliminate fears many children associate with administration of anesthesia. As the doctor fits the heimet to the child, he explains that oxygen is being supplied in preparation for a trip through "space"-and quick, fear-free oblivion for the young patient is said to follow.

CREOMUL'SION

A report on telephone progress in 1953

Southwestern Bell is in business to serve the public of Arkansas. We want to please you. Every member of the Arkansas telephone team wants to give you the best service possible.

How well are we succeeding? What have we done to meet the demands for service, and to meet demands for better grades of service?

Here are some of the things which have been accomplished during 1953:

We carried out a $10½ million construction program

1. Placed 3,000 poles and 8,800 miles of wire

With this new construction money, we-

- in rural areas. 2. Changed four towns from crank-type
- telephones to dial operation. 3. Converted Fayetteville to dial service. We also added an additional central of- fice in Little Rock. (Windsor-5 office). 4. Established new telephone exchange at Black Fish Lake (near West Memphis), Ferndale and Pinnacle (west of Little Rock), and at Jones Mill.
- 5. These and other improvements required nine new buildings plus a major addition to the telephone building at 7th and Louisiana in Little Rock.
- 6. Added major equipment in 16 central offices to handle more calls and to handle them better.

7. Placed storm resistant telephone cables containing 55,000 circuit miles of wire. These included coaxial cable from Little Rock to Memphis, which provides for hundreds of long distance circuits as well as a connection with national television network.

We connected 40,000 telephones and disconnected 34,000 for a net gain of 6,000. This brought many more Arkansas families and businesses within reach of your telephone.

We gave service to 400 families whose application had been delayed until we could install poles, or central office equipment. Jobs are planned in 1954 for others waiting for service.

In 1953 your long distance call was completed on the average in one minute and 42 seconds—an improvement of 18 seconds.

We kept all telephone equipment operating more efficiently so that today telephones in Arkansas are reported "out of order" on the average of only once in 26 months.

We tried to make the telephone company a good place to work

We provided good jobs for 3,800 Arkansans throughout the year. Their pay checks totalled $13 million, and nearly all of that sum was spent in the many Arkansas towns we serve.

We also paid our share of taxes-

1. $1% million in state and local taxes;

2. $3 million in Federal taxes.

Approximately % of every dollar we took in went for wages and taxes.

Our investment in the state of Arkansas grew substantially

Our total investment in telephone facilities for

Arkansas increased $7 million last year alone. Altogether, we have built $65 million worth of buildings, lines, and equipment since 1946 to keep up with your needs for telephone

In 1946, our investment per telephone was $199. Last year our investment increased to $322 per telephone.

This year we hope to do an even better job for you

We have plans to change more communities to dial operation in 1954. We will also start construction of buildings for conversion in other towns which will be completed in 1955 and 1956. We will greatly expand operator long distance dialing this year. Furthermore, we plan service extensions of telephone networks. These are just a few of the many ways we intend to improve and expand your service again this year.

We are proceeding with a $28 million construction program, to extend over the next three years.

We have faith that the people of Arkansas, through their regulatory power intend to allow earnings which justify the decision to go forward with this program.

We want to help Arkansas grow and to give Arkansas telephone service equal to the world's That's our goal. Your suggestions on how we can achieve it will always be appreciated.
